Title  The Dead Sea Scrolls: Select Publications by Latter-day Saint Scholars

Author(s)  Daniel B. McKinlay and Steven W. Booras

ISSN  2151-7800 (print), 2168-3166 (online)

Abstract  Select bibliography of LDS research on the Dead Sea Scrolls.
This select bibliography is arranged alphabetically by author (and occasionally by title when no author is given). Multiple works by an author are listed alphabetically by title. A book edited by at least one Latter-day Saint appears as a book entry, alphabetized by the surname of the lead editor. Individual articles by Latter-day Saints from such an edited book appear under the author’s name with a shortened citation of the book.

Cross, Frank Moore, Donald W. Parry, and Richard J. Saley. “4Qpap-Unclassified Fragments (verso of 4QSamᵃ) (Pl. XXIII).” In Cross et al., Qumran Cave 4, XII, 217.

———. “4QSamᵃ (Pls. I–XXII).” In Cross et al., Qumran Cave 4, XII, 1–216.

———. “4QSamᵇ (Pls. XXIV–XXV).” In Cross et al., Qumran Cave 4, XII, 219–46.

Falk, Daniel K., Sarianna Metso, Donald W. Parry, and Eibert J. C. Tigchelaar, eds. Qumran Cave 1 Revisited: Texts from Cave 1 Sixty Years after Their Discovery: Proceedings of the Sixth Meeting of the IOQS in Ljubljana. Leiden: Brill, 2010.

Parry, Donald W. “1QIṣa and ḳetib-ḳere: Readings of the Masoretic Type Texts.” In Falk et al., Qumran Cave 1 Revisited, 17–32.

. “4QSam\textsuperscript{a} and the Tetragrammaton.” In Parry and Ricks, Current Research, 106–25.

_____. The Dead Sea Scrolls Reader Part 4: Calendrical and Sapien-
_____. The Dead Sea Scrolls Reader Part 5: Poetic and Liturgical
_____. The Dead Sea Scrolls Reader Part 6: Additional Genres and Parry, Donald W., and Eugene C. Ulrich, eds. The Provo International Conference on the Dead Sea Scrolls: Technological Innova-Pike, Dana M. “466. 4QText Mentioning the Congregation of the Lord,” and “467. 4QText Mentioning ‘Light to Jacob.’” In Cryptic
Texts and Miscellanea, Part 1, edited by Stephen J. Pfann et al.,
_____. “The Book of Numbers at Qumran: Texts and Context.” In Parry and Ricks, Current Research, 166–93.
_____. “The ‘Congregation of YHWH’ in the Bible and at Qumran.”
_____. “Is the Plan of Salvation Attested in the Dead Sea Scrolls?” In Parry and Pike, LDS Perspectives on the Dead Sea Scrolls, 73–94.
_____. Review of Dead Sea Scrolls & the Mormon Connection, by Keith
_____. “Unidentified Fragments.” In Encyclopedia of the Dead
Sea Scrolls, edited by Lawrence H. Schiffman and James C.
Pike, Dana M., and Andrew C. Skinner. “4QMiscellaneous Fragments: Progress and Problems.” In Parry and Ulrich, Provo International Conference, 161–70.
_____. “‘A Light to Jacob’ and Other Interesting Finds in 4QMiscelnaneous.” In The Dead Sea Scrolls: Fifty Years after Their Discovery: Proceedings of the Jerusalem Congress, July 20–25, 1997, edited by Lawrence H. Schiffman, Emanuel Tov, and James C.
VanderKam, 385–90. Jerusalem: Israel Exploration Society in
_____. Qumran Cave 4, XXIII: Unidentified Fragments. DJD XXXIII.

Daniel B. McKinlay is a research scholar at the Neal A. Maxwell Institute for Religious Scholarship. Steven W. Booras is a research scholar at the Neal A. Maxwell Institute for Religious Scholarship.